BREMEN'S CREW UNABLE TO FLY TO N. Y. TODAY

Return to Metropolis from Capital This P.M. by Train

Washington, April 28.—(AP)—The crew of the Bremen, which came here last night to lay wreaths on the grave of Floyd Bennett, paid their tribute today and left Washington by train for New York. They departed at 1:05 p. m. in a special car attached to a Pennsylvania railroad train.

Rainy weather prevented the fliers from returning to New York by airplane as they had hoped to do. They held out until the last in a determination to fly, but shortly after noon they conceded that this would be impracticable and so they decided to go as they came last night.

Just before the train pulled out, Frau Junkers talked by telephone with Grover Whalen, representative of Mayor Walker of New York in official functions.

Present plans call for the fliers to return here by air from the metropolis next Wednesday, on which occasion they will pay their formal respects to President Coolidge, and be officially welcomed by him.

Washington, April 28.—(AP)—The flags of Germany and Ireland, which the Bremen carried on its trans-Atlantic flight, were laid across the grave of Floyd Bennett today by the German and Irish fliers, to commemorate his fidelity to the traditions of the air.

The aviators went to Arlington National Cemetery early and participated in a simple ceremony at the grave of their fellow aviator, who succumbed to illness contracted while flying to their aid at Greenly Island.

First Captain Hermann Koehl placed a wreath of green on the fresh earthen mound, which was already completely covered by floral tributes. Then Baron von Huenefeld went slowly forward and unfolded the flag of his country, to top the wreath of his companion.

He was followed by Major James Fitzmaurice, who lifted a huge silver emblem of green, white and orange. This Irish flag alike was spread side-by-side over Floyd Bennett's resting place.

Then Stars and Stripes. Finally Major Howard Williams, commandant at Bolling Field, produced a smaller emblem of the Stars and Stripes, which he put beside the Irish flag.

The American flag placed on Bennett's grave also was brought across the Atlantic on the Bremen. Miss Herta Junkers also placed a wreath of green on the mound.

Throughout the ceremony the fliers stood with heads bowed in the rain. After leaving Bennett's burial place the group visited the grave of Lieutenant Wooster, who lost his life in the disaster to the "American Legion" plane, which crashed in trials made in preparation for an attempt to span the Atlantic.

Posed for Pictures

The fliers were awake long before Washington had taken on its customary activities. They found photographers and newspaper men camping on the doorsteps of the officers' quarters at Bolling Field, where they had been guests for the night. In turn, each of them posed for sitting portraits.

"If you take so many pictures of me," said Captain Koehl, "this rain will never stop."

Then came Fitzmaurice, who apparently posed reluctantly.

Baron von Huenefeld was the last to pose. He had his inevitable monocle stuck jauntily in his right eye. The journey to Arlington was made during a rain which at times became driving. The weather conditions were similar to those which prevailed yesterday during the burial of Bennett with military honors.

SUIT FOR $1000 OF INSURANCE RESULTS IN VERDICT FOR $472 BY JURY IN LEE CIRCUIT COURT

A jury in the circuit court deliberated for almost twelve hours during the night in the suit for damages brought by Mrs. Anna Swartz of this city against the Springfield Fire & Marine Insurance Company to recover damages in the sum of $1,000. The damage claimed resulted from a fire at her property on Peoria avenue in November 1926.

The case occupied the front rank at the April term and four days were used in taking testimony and in arguments to the jury, which closed

FINE NEW DAIRY BUILDING TO BE BUILT IN DIXON

Standard Dairy is Sold to Freeport Firm: Plans Announced

C. F. Kaiser and A. J. Hill of Freeport, proprietors of the Union Dairy in that city, a model dairy institution, have purchased the Standard Dairy in Dixon, located on First street, near College avenue, and have also announced plans for the erection of a replica of their Freeport building in Dixon, at an estimated cost of $60,000.

The new building, which will be of brick construction, and which will be equipped with the most modern dairy machinery, will be ready for occupancy and operation about Oct. 1. It will be of light tan-faced brick, with trimmings of red-faced brick and Bedford stone. A huge white milk bottle will top the structure and be a conspicuous sign.

A half-page advertisement in this issue of The Telegraph gives further details of the building as follows:

When entering the building, the visitor will step into a attractive retail salesroom and office, adjacent to which will be the drivers' room.

Glazed Brick and Glass

The milk room will be of shiny red tile floor and brown glazed brick side walls. The plant will be lighted with factory-type windows and skylights with ventilators in the roof.

The cooling room will be enclosed with plate glass with the lower enclosures of glazed brick.

Automatic bottle washers will be installed which will convey the sterilized bottles direct to the filling machines, where they will be filled and capped without having been touched by hands. All of the thirty machines in the plant will be motor driven, thus doing away with unsightly line-shafts and pulleys and flapping belts.

To Have Own Well

The boiler room will contain a sixty-horse-power boiler, a 25-ton ice machine, pump to artesian well, water softener and storage tank. The plant will be equipped to handle approximately 10,000 quarts of milk each day and will also manufacture butter, butter-milk, chocolate milk and cottage cheese.

The Dixon plant will be managed by George Morey, a native of this city, who has been connected with the dairy business for the past ten years and who is well qualified to assume its direction. He will move to Dixon from Freeport at once.

A garage with room for ten cars will be erected at the rear of the dairy plant.

FUTURE OF GIRL SCOUTS IN CITY WILL BE DECIDED

Citizens Hold Fate of Organization in Their Purses

The people of Dixon will next week have the opportunity of doing a great work for the young girls of the community—the members of the Girl Scouts—when the campaign of the Council, in charge of the work of that organization, will be waged.

Bright and early Monday morning many women of the city, at a sacrifice of time, effort and in many cases money, will take the field in a canvass of the city to raise a ridiculously low amount of money to carry on the work for another year. The budget for the Girl Scouts work for the next twelve-month is merely $1,200—just $100 a month—and the backers of this great work for the benefit of the young girls feel certain their efforts will meet with success early in the week.

The Girl Scouts is the paramount organization in the world for the benefit of the coming women, in that it accomplishes a development of its members in every particular—physically, mentally and morally.

All who are interested in the continuation of this fine work in Dixon are asked to have their contributions ready when the canvassers call next week. Those who wish to mail their "bits" may send them to Mrs. E. H. Prince, treasurer of the council, 709 Second st.

High School Bands in State Contest

Urbana, Ill., April 28.—(AP)—Fifteen hundred high school musicians awaited with tense anxiety the decision of judges today on winning bands of the fifth annual state high school band contest, which came to a close here this morning. Final announcements of all winning bands and soloists will be made at 4 o'clock this afternoon. From early Friday morning until late at night and through all of Saturday morning the University of Illinois auditorium, where the contest was held, resounded with the musical efforts of a score of high school bands.

Senn High School of Chicago, Ill., representative in the national contest last year and the winner of the 1927 state title, loomed as a favorite in the class A competition. The outstanding class of the contest, the Chicago school's music was loudly applauded and many contestants felt that Senn was in line for another title. The Senn band is directed by Capt. A. R. Gish. The final competition of the state contest came to a close this morning when bands in the class B contest completed their recitals before judges. At three o'clock this afternoon the 1,500 musicians will mass in a gigantic band parade in Memorial Stadium where the announcement of contest winners will be made.

Gangster Murdered

East St. Louis, Ill., April 28.—(AP)—"Piggy" Weller, a gangster, was found shot to death today at Villa Iris, the roadside house which he conducted on the Collinsville road near the Fairmont race track. He had been shot eight times.

The roadhouse was deserted. A round of drinks was on a table, indicating the drinkers had fled when the shooting began. An anonymous telephone message to police here led to discovery of the body.

Police started a search for Louis Mandel, Weller's partner, who recently was acquitted of the murder of Dr. A. H. Sante in St. Louis.

Joseph Marovitch, night watchman at a roadhouse being built to compete with Villa Iris, was beaten and shot to death and the roadhouse bombed, April 15.

SOUTH SURVEYING DAMAGE DONE BY WINDS AND WATER

Freezing Temperature and Snow in Fruit Belts Reported

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
With a furious dying rasp, winter came back to the middle Atlantic states today, and over large sections hid the creations of spring tide under drifts of snow.

The Shenandoah Valley, where the apple trees were bursting into bloom, was buried in places under six foot drifts.

Three men were drowned off Atlantic City when an attempt was made to launch a life boat from the steamer South Shore which broke away from a tug which had it in tow and went aground. In the shelter of New York harbor, a huge wave washed three overboard from a ferry, and one was lost.

The snow spread over most of Pennsylvania and West Virginia, disrupting transportation, while the gale tore down telegraph and telephone wires, and also covered parts of a Virginia and Kentucky.

In Delaware roofs were torn away and highways submerged. A schooner was reported sunk 11 miles off the Delaware breakwater.

Heavy fog blankets followed the gale along the seaboard. The members of the crew of the trans-Atlantic plane Bremen were unable to fly from Washington to New York, and Berni Balchen, who set out for them from Mitchell Field, Long Island, was forced down at Miller Field and was unable to make the 20 minute flight back to Mitchell Field.

Damage to fruit trees in Pennsylvania, Virginia, North Carolina, and Georgia, it was feared, would be severe.

Radio became the only means of communication in several towns in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland after the storm disrupted telephone and telegraph connections. The Associated Press broadcast news from Pittsburgh to papers in each of the three states when leased wires went out of order.

Atlanta, Ga., April 28.—(AP)—An apprehensive south took advantage of clearing weather today to survey the havoc wrought over a forty-eight hour period by wind storms, snow and minor floods that, falling just short of disaster, left unseasonable low temperatures in their wake.

Frost was feared in the fruit belts of North Carolina and Georgia, an eventuality that might involve millions of dollars damage. Bottom land crops were menaced by high water.

Snow fell in the mountains of eastern Kentucky and North Carolina yesterday and the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia, ordinarily dressed in apple blossoms at this time of the year, was buried under twelve inches of snow with drifts reaching six feet in the highways.

Wind storms from the gulf struck Florida north of Tampa and traversed the state.

Four persons were killed—Two boys and a man, by live wires, and a negro by the collapse of his home.

At Jackson, Miss., two were injured and $50,000 property damage caused by high winds.

Forty families were left homeless when a wind-lashed blaze swept the village of Adamsville, Ala. One man was killed by a live wire at Florence, Ala.

The most serious flood situation remained in Georgia with the population of West Bainbridge prepared to flee as Flint river rose to unprecedented heights. In Arkansas main levees on the White river threatened to collapse.

NEW PROHIBITION AGENT.

Springfield, Ill., April 28.—(AP)—Unknown to local officials, a new deputy prohibition administrator for the Springfield area, A. E. Hamilton, last night conducted his first liquor raid, in which two Springfield men were arrested.

Hamilton replaces John B. Madden, under whose administration the "cleanup" of Madison county was accomplished. Madden left town Tuesday without announcing he had been succeeded.

DIED IN WEST.

Mr. Dobie, father of Mrs. John Crabtree, died last Tuesday in Glendale, Calif. He leaves a wife, two sons and his daughter.

FUNERAL WILL BE HELD SUN. IN THE HOUSE

President to be Among Those Mourning Martin B. Madden

Washington, April 28.—(AP)—The House after a 30-minute session held to transact only urgent business, adjourned today as a further mark of respect to Martin B. Madden of Illinois.

Without debate, a resolution was adopted appointing a committee to take charge of funeral arrangements for the late House appropriations committee chairman, including the ceremonies to be held in the House tomorrow when Mr. Madden's body will lie in state in front of the Speaker's rostrum. The resolution provided that an invitation to these ceremonies be extended to President Coolidge, who, it is understood, already has expressed a desire to attend.

In addition, it ordered invitations sent to Vice President Dawes, the Senate, Justices of the Supreme Court, the foreign diplomatic corps in Washington, the Chief of the Army General Staff and the Chief of Naval Operations.

Mr. Dawes already has advised leaders that he will attend and will be one of the two speakers. The other speaker will be Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee, ranking Democratic on the appropriations committee, and a close friend of the late chairman.

WAS "WATCHDOG."

Washington, April 28.—(AP)—Death has removed from Congress the men who held in his hand one of the greatest check reins on the nation's expenditures—Madden of Illinois.

The veteran representative was stricken down yesterday at the Capitol while at his desk as chairman of the House appropriations committee.

The closing years of his life were filled with legislative warfare. Yet, to within fifteen minutes of the time heart trouble caused his death, he was as full of fight as when he took over his chairmanship several years ago.

He took over the chairmanship almost simultaneously with the inauguration of the national budget system which brought a realignment of House committees and almost overnight more than trebled the power of the appropriations body.

Senate Was Problem.

Madden had another problem on his hands—the Senate. Up to the time of the budget system the Senate frequently had indulged in the practice of adding millions of dollars to the House appropriation measures, many time virtually rewriting the bills. But under Madden the brakes were applied.

Madden's third big job was to keep the total of the appropriation for the whole government machinery—amounting annually to more than four billion dollars—to the lowest minimum. For weeks each fall, before Congress convened, he and his committee were back at the Capitol, going over proposed expenditures and doing their best to chip off here and there any item that could be passed up.

The Illinois member was liberal when liberality was actually needed. Last summer he virtually violated the laws of the nation to obtain funds, during the recess of Congress, to relieve the sufferers in the Mississippi flood area.

Stretched the Law.

Again, two years ago this spring, the chairman stretched both the letter and spirit of the law to provide funds for various governmental departments to meet a contingency that arose as a result of a Senate filibuster blocking action on a deficiency appropriation bill which, among other things, provided funds to carry out the bonus act.

In debate, he was almost a Czar. He had a pitch to his voice that almost instantaneously silenced the frequent hubbub in the chamber and brought members for the cloak rooms to their seats to hear what he had to say.

Time and again the veteran legislator held out against the pleadings of his closest personal friends for appropriations and at other times he even bluntly refused to approve money for public works in his home city—Chicago—because he was not convinced of the merits of the work.

Frequently the 73-year-old chairman was called to the White House for conferences with President Coolidge.

HAGEN DEFEATED DECISIVELY BY BRITISH GOLFER

American Fought in Vain to Keep His Opponent Down

Moor Park, England, April 28.—(AP)—Playing phenomenal golf, Archie Compston, British professional, conquered Walter Hagen in their 72-hole match for 750 pounds, beating him on the first hole of their fourth round today, 18 up and 17 to play.

Compston resumed his winning stride this morning and at the end of the third round was 18 up. Going into the fourth round he needed only a half and this he got, the 55th hole being halved by four.

Although Compston put the finishing touch to Hagen on the first hole after lunch, the American star struggled to the very last. His 25 foot putt for a birdie 3 on the 55th hole banged against the back of the cup and then bounced out stopping inches away.

Compston's long putt was six inches short. Hagen, laughing, Hagen then rolled his ball in and Compston followed.

"You'll have to sink it, Archie," lowered, both men getting 4's.

Hagen Applauded.

The gallery gave Hagen a burst of applause for his dying effort with the putter which had almost kept the match alive, although Compston's lead going into the last round was so huge that it was merely a matter of time before the match would end.

Hagen warmly congratulated the British player on the brilliant play he had displayed.

Hagen's doom was sealed this morning when Compston picked up four more holes on him. Nevertheless, he went to the practice green after lunch with a new putter and tried to run down long ones until called to the tee where Compston awaited him. Then to show a flash of his fighting spirit, Hagen outdrove Compston on the last hole, one of the few times of the match.

DIED IN WEST.

Mr. Dobie, father of Mrs. John Crabtree, died last Tuesday in Glendale, Calif. He leaves a wife, two sons and his daughter.

Schildberg of Mendota, have come to Dixon to reside at 1006 West Third street. Mr. Schildberg was a former Mendota merchant and is now in the planning mill with his brother Benj. Schildberg of Dixon. Mrs. Harry White is moving to the Plummer residence from the residence which she sold on Second street. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Duffy and daughter Evelyn motored to Milwaukee this afternoon to remain over Sunday visiting with relatives and friends. The Dixon Symphony Orchestra, with Mrs. W. H. Smith directing, gave their annual concert, which has come to be a treat always delightfully anticipated, last evening in the Methodist church in this city. In conjunction with a cantata sung by the pupils of the Franklin Grove schools, sung under the supervision of Mrs. C. C. Rorick, who is supervisor of music in the school. The church was filled with an appreciative and representative audience of Dixon and Franklin Grove people, and those who came late could not choose their places, but the entertainment could be seen and heard from every seat. Palms and flowers decorated the church, and the entire evening proved one of great enjoyment to everyone present, and was a genuine treat to music lovers. A number of the orchestra members who live at a distance, were present and took part, including Russell Mason, flutist, now with the Little Symphony Orchestra, Chicago. The accompanist for the cantata was Mrs. W. H. Spangler of Franklin; the director and accompanist for the Symphony orchestra was Mrs. Smith, who took up the direction of the organization at the death of their beloved leader, band director and composer, Will H. Smith, some years ago. Mrs. Smith deserves much commendation for her fine work with the orchestra. The ensemble work of the orchestra, improving each year, has become excellent, at times the harmony swelling as from one instrument, as in the overture, "Sunshine and Showers." The trio Misses Lawton, Morris and Nesbit, violins and viola, in their double number gave much pleasure, the military spirit of their first selection contrasting beautifully with the softer lighter strains of the second number, Dawn of Love. The youngest member of the Symphony orchestra by many years, Dean Ball, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ball, played his violin solo in a delightfully pleasing manner, demonstrating fine technique and remarkable tonal ability. His selection was "Kreisler's 'Old Re-frain'." The violin holds a future for this young man. The beautiful cantata, "Hawatha," by the Franklin Grove seventh and eighth graders was managed well, the firm young voices carrying the pretty story with clearness and intelligence to the pleased audience. Mrs. Rorick may regard her students with pride, for they did their part well. The mixed quartet from Franklin Grove H. S. gave a delightful selection. To repeated applause the orchestra responded with an extra number. The concert proved of much merit and everyone left with a happy feeling of satisfaction in the entertainment presented. The program was given as follows with the addition of double mixed quartet from the Franklin Grove H. S. Part I. March—Magnificent. Groby Overture—Sunshine and Showers. Trio a. Marche Militaire. Schubert.

"WHERE DAFFODILS ARE FOUND"

There, when the first green shoots of tender corn
Show on the plough; when the first drift of white
Stars the black branches of the spiky thorn,
And afternoons are warm and evenings light,
The shivering daffodils do take delight,
Shaking beside the brook, and grass comes green,
And blue dog-violets come and glistening celandine.
—JOHN MASEFIELD, in "Daffodil Fields."

Dates Given for All Organizations Which Will Camp

The organized work for girls in this city, under the two organizations, the Girl Scouts and the Y. M. C. A. Women's Department, is familiar to most of the Dixon citizens; however, it is learned through a number of inquiries made during the past week that the situation is not entirely clear to all. Because of the publicity that will be given, particularly to the camps during the next month or two, it is hoped that people will not become confused regarding these outing periods.

The women's and girls' departments of the Y. M. C. A. will conduct two camp periods, beginning June 21st, and the Girl Scouts of the city will go to camp July 14th. Bovey's Springs has been chosen for the location of camp this year. The following is the camp schedule for the reason:

Y. M. C. A. Boys—June 11th to 21st.
Y. M. C. A. Women's Dept.—Senior Girls, June 21st to July 1st.
Y. M. C. A. Women's Dept.—Junior Girls, July 2nd to July 12th.
Girl Scouts—July 14th to 24th.

Palmyra Mutual Aid Society Held Meeting

The Palmyra Mutual Aid Society met at the home of Mrs. Fred Drew, Wednesday, April 25th. At noon eighteen members and four visitors enjoyed the delicious picnic dinner. Piecing of quilt tops was the work for the day.

In the afternoon the business meeting was held. All joined in repeating the Lord's Prayer and singing "Work for the Night is Coming." The Scripture lesson was read, followed by the secretary's report. The Treasurer was absent.

It was voted to hold the next meeting May 16 so the regular meeting day would be free for those who wished to attend the Evening Telegraph Cooking School, might do so. The place of the next meeting will be announced later.

Junior Play Was Most Successful Large Attendance

The North Side Junior play, "The Bratt," produced last evening in Kindergarten hall at the North Dixon school, under the direction of B. J. Frazer, was a decided success, the young folks taking part reflecting much credit on themselves and their director. Tonight they will again give the play and a record breaking crowd is anticipated. The acting was well sustained and each one taking part deserves praise, the cast working hard to make the play the success it proved to be.

GIRL OF 20 WINNER OF FIVE SCHOLARSHIPS

Richmond, Va.—(AP)—Five scholarships before celebrating her twentieth birthday is the record of Mary Clifford Caperton, Virginia girl, who has just added the coveted Charles Eliot Norton study award to her list of honors.

Mary Clifford, one of six "Caperton girls," all blondes and noted locally for their beauty, is the third Radcliffe college student to win the Norton scholarship. She will spend a year in Athens studying Greek.

MENU for the FAMILY

BY SISTER MARY
BREAKFAST—Grape fruit sections, cereal cooked with figs, cream, tomato omelet, crisp toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Spinach soufflé, baked potatoes, cottage pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER—Fish loaf, creamed carrots, banana and peanut salad, jellied rhubarb, three-layer cake, milk, coffee.

This is the season of the year when cake is a most convenient thing to have in the house. A dessert of fresh fruit served with cake is always acceptable and requires no elaborate last minute preparations.

Three-Layer Cake
One-half cup molasses, 3-4 cup butter, 5 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 3 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon each cinnamon and ground ginger, 1-4 teaspoon soda, 3-4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup cleaned currants, 1-4 cup seeded raisins, 1-2 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, pink coloring.

Heat molasses and add 1-4 cup butter. When butter is melted stir in soda. Add 1 egg well beaten. Add 1 cup flour mixed and sifted with cinnamon, ginger, 1 teaspoon baking powder and 1-4 teaspoon salt. Add currants and stir to a smooth batter and pour into an oiled and floured layer cake pan. Bake twenty-five minutes in a moderately slow oven. Use this for the bottom layer of the cake.

Cream remaining 1-2 cup butter and beat in sugar. Add remaining 4 eggs one at a time beating each egg thoroughly into mixture. Mix and sift remaining flour, baking powder and salt and add alternately with milk to mixture. Divide this batter into two parts. To one part add raisins and enough pink coloring to make a pretty pink. Add vanilla to remaining batter and bake each in a separate layer cake pan. Use the pink mixture for the middle layer and the white or plain vanilla for top layer. Put layers together with a white boiled frosting and decorate top and sides of cake with halves of pecans or English walnuts.

Polo—Organization of an Ogle county Legion Auxiliary took place Thursday night at Oregon when members of the various auxiliaries met there and completed plans to combine all the county units as the Ogle American Legion posts did last week.

Women chosen to head the auxiliary are:
Mrs. Grace Sager, Polo, president.
Mrs. Lloyd Wood, Byron, vice president.
Mrs. Mary Seyfarth, Oregon, treasurer.

Forreston, Mt. Morris, Byron, Rochelle, Polo and Oregon, were among the towns represented. Mrs. J. Pettit of Morrison, district committee member, spoke at the meeting and explained the aims of the county organization.

Ogle county American Legion posts will be represented at the next auxiliary meeting, which will be held May 10 at Rochelle. A banquet will be served.

TAFFETA TAKES LEAD FOR EVENING DRESSES

By Hazel Reavis
(Associated Press Fashion Editor)
Paris—(AP)—Taffeta for evening is no longer the exclusive privilege of debutantes and the very young.

Paris dressmakers are showing draped, puffed and trained evening dresses of taffeta for all ages of women. Mine, Jeanne Lanvin even designs a dress of taffeta for a two year old baby.

Hardly a house of creative dressmaking fails to show a wide selection of taffeta evening dresses for mid-summer. The former robe de style, characterized by long, full skirt and tight bodice, is generally replaced by draped skirts which lift to disclose elaborate petticoats of lace or plaiting in Watteau style.

If the skirt is straight and tight, meant to conserve the silhouette, there is always a big pouf and hanging ends of silk at the side, or a large bustle in back, often with ends falling into a train.

Another favorite form of breaking the too rigid line of a straight taffeta skirt is a circular flounce added at the bottom, perhaps rounded and lifted at one side to give an irregular hemline. Occasionally the flounce is continued up the center-front, or side front of the skirt to the waistline. The petticoat of contrasting color is an important point in these dresses.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY TO MEET TUESDAY

The Women's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church will meet with Mrs. Frank Edwards of Hazelwood Road Tuesday evening instead of Thursday evening, as originally planned.

The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SUMNER

Two spinster sisters of St. Louis aged 47 and 49, swallowed poison because their other had died the other day. They said in a note written just before they chose to die that they were lonely, and that life was impossible without their mother.

Abnormal and morbid as this little true story is, it's only so natural a result from all too frequent unbridled maternal instinct that seeks to devour its children and make them utterly dependent upon the female parent that one really wonders that such a disaster doesn't happen even more frequently than it does.

CARRIE NATION'S S. A.

Nothing is quite so funny as the revival of an old book or play which when first written or produced some twenty or thirty years ago, was denounced as "indecent, shameless, and a destroyer of morals," but which, when reprinted in this frank modern day, is found hopelessly boring and dry and as devoid of a shocking line as Carrie Nation was of S. A.

Such a book is "Mrs. Craddock," by Somerset Maugham. The only terms upon which Maugham could get this published about 30 years ago were by omitting certain scenes and lines which the publishers thought "too daring." But the recently published new edition is the original manuscript. The author himself said that he had a dreadful time finding the censored paragraphs in the original manuscript and the reader can't find them at all.

IS IT THE BABY?

Bertha talks about having a baby and the birth scene is rather realistic, but neither her pre nor post maternity philosophizing compare for frankness with most any old book picked up today. There are one or two tempestuous love scenes which might have horrified people of an age who never kissed in public, and perhaps Bertha's eventual hatred for her husband shocked an age which took the promise "till death do us part" very seriously, no matter what hell resulted for self and family.

One's objections to the book is a paean of thanksgiving that one lives in this frank, sane-minded day instead of when one refused to look at facts without swaddling them in either sentimentality or unwholesomeness.

DROWNED IN MILK

Baby Ellen Laferty, just two months old, drowned the other day when the nipple on her milk bottle became loose and too big a flow of milk gushed down her throat into her lungs, causing strangulation. One can hardly pick up a paper without reading of a baby found smothered, burnt, drowned, or victim of some utterly unexpected tragedy.

Almost invariably, the mother is blamed. "Why wasn't she watching her baby?" is the first question asked, which is just one reason why women hesitate before having babies these times and one reason, too, why maternity is the hardest, most thankless job on earth. It also is a reason why a woman's responsibilities, even if she has but one child, age her faster than the most responsible job a man could possibly hold.

DRESS FRILLS BANNED AS HAMPERING STUDY

Detroit—(AP)—It's goodbye frills for the 350 girls attending the Liggett private school here.

Going on the theory that girls' minds are distracted from their studies by their frocks, the management has ordered the wearing of regulation attire.

For warm weather, the girls will wear uniforms made of India silk in navy blue. In the winter the dresses will be made of wool and may be worn in red, green, blue and brown. Both models will be trimmed with white pique collars and cuffs. Skirts must be two inches below the knee. Woolen hose are requested for winter wear.

GUESTS HERE FROM WILMETTE AT ANDERSON HOME

Mrs. M. L. Redfield and Miss Redfield of Wilmette have been guests this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Anderson. Last evening Attorneys Dorman and Charles Anderson motored out from the city to spend the week end with their parents. Mrs. Redfield and daughter will return to the city with Messrs. Anderson, in their car.

MOVED TO THEIR HOME IN LAGRANGE TODAY

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. DeCamp moved today from their home on North Hennepin Avenue to LaGrange, Ill., where they will make their future home. They were accompanied to LaGrange by Mrs. Carson Croft who has been the guest of Mrs. Floyd Chapman.

ENTERTAINED AT DINNER LAST EVENING

Mr. and Mrs. William Mondlock entertained at dinner last evening Mr. and Mrs. William Mondlock.

and yet there was time for a decidedly pretty ceremony connected with the approaching marriage of Miss Matsudaira, daughter of the Ambassador of Japan, and Mrs. Matsudaira, to the Crown Prince of Japan, which will take place in mid-summer in Japan. This particular event was a tea at the British embassy with the Ambassador and Lady Isabella Howard as hosts and the Ambassador and Mrs. Matsudaira and their daughter as honor guests, while all of the other heads of foreign missions in the capital also attended. These dignitaries had contributed to the purchase of a massive silver bowl, a wedding gift to the young bride-elect.

The coronation celebration was at the Persian legation, modest house on N Street, with Mirza Davoud Khan Meftai as host, and the whole of Washington society, those invited by the Minister and others who were self-invited, went in vast numbers to pledge the health and long reign of Reza Shah Pahlavi, Shah of the Persians.

Seldom has an international wedding in the capital been looked upon with more interest than that of Miss Janet Phillips, the 19-year-old debutante daughter of former Representative and Mrs. Thomas W. Phillips, Jr., of Pennsylvania, and Mr. Leander McCormick-Goodhart, commercial attaché of the British embassy, which was to take place in Bethlehem Chapel at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Members of the executive family and the ambassadors, minister and charge d' affairs of embassies and legations, members of the two families, had planned to fill the beautiful chapel of the Washington Cathedral to its capacity, while these and other guests to the number of several hundred were to attend the reception at the bride's home.

The bride's robe was of exceeding dignity and simplicity, fashioned in unbroken line from the top of the bodice where it was finished with a rose point yoke to the hem of the skirt which was long in front and swept into a round train of medium length. The princess effect was given by the curved waist lines and the sleeves of satin were long and closely fitted, with rose point at hand.

The priceless old Bruges lace veil bought many years ago by the bride's grandmother, was to be worn with a coronet of rose point lace arranged with the orange blossoms worn by her mother, while the lace veil, narrow at the top and widening into a long train, was arranged over the tulle veil.

She planned to carry white orchids and on her bodice a long graceful crescent diamond brooch given her by the bridegroom.

Mrs. Phillips, the bride's mother, had an imported gown of Mauve color and a hat of purple tones for the occasion.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus McCormick

MAKE IT A BIG YEAR.

Sometime the streets of the business section in Dixon must be re-paved, and when that is done, they should be widened by cutting down the width of the sidewalks. Both Galena Avenue and First Street could be made five feet wider without making the sidewalks too narrow and the extra street space would greatly relieve the congested traffic conditions.

Such action as this would be up to the city council to handle, but right now, when we have an especially alert and energetic Chamber of Commerce, is a good time to put it over. We have no authority to speak for the Chamber of Commerce, but our observations of that organization convince us that it would give valuable aid to the City Commission in a movement of this kind.

Conceding that these old worn-out pavements must be replaced some time, is it not logical to replace them immediately and so hasten the time when we may enjoy smooth pavements and wider streets.

We believe that if the city undertook this project that the public utilities using the streets to bury pipes, wire, etc., would co-operate by making such underground equipment permanent. Sometime ago the Dixon Water Company assured The Telegraph that in the event of new paving downtown in Dixon they would replace all lateral connections with brass pipes which would last indefinitely. The water company's mains are permanent and give indications of never giving necessity for replacement. Such co-operation as this on the part of the utilities would prevent future disturbance of the pavement.

There are many needed things in Dixon. They all cost money. But we cannot improve the city without spending and it might be less painful if we went on a spree this year and bought a number of these needed things all at once, rather than drag it out for ten years. The sooner we make improvements the sooner will we enjoy their benefits.

IT'S A LARGE COUNTRY.

The San Francisco Bulletin complains of Panama canal tolls. It notes that when the electric liner California passed through the canal it had to pay a toll of $15,000 on its cargo, or $30,000 for the round trip.

"Canals cost money and so does their upkeep, but though the toll system is fair enough in principle, it is unfair in practice when American shipping is called upon to contribute to the profits on operation of the international waters," says the Bulletin. "Cheaper tolls would make for cheaper freights and fares and for greater transportation facilities."

In conclusion it says: "Better communication between the Pacific and Atlantic through Panama means a greater volume of tourist and other business, and in particular a better market for California products."

Naturally, the Bulletin looks through the eyes of California. It is not enough that the whole nation should build a canal that gives the Atlantic and Pacific coast points advantages over all the states between in shipping. The tolls should be reduced so that advantage may be still greater, according to the California viewpoint.

States midway between the oceans contributed their share toward building of the canal, but they get no benefit from it except the benefit that comes from national security in time of war. One of the arguments in behalf of the canal was that our naval fleets should not be so far divided that they could not join short of a trip "around the Horn," a trip we saw the battleship Oregon take during the Spanish war.

When we obtained possessions in the Pacific ocean, it became a national necessity for us to have shorter communication between the two oceans. The whole nation joined in approval and in paying for the canal. Midwestern industry still is paying for it in competitive freight rates. California is enjoying the benefits of cheaper shipping, and complains that tolls are high.

Modern transportation has brought all points of the United States closer together in matter of time, but we still have a large country with diversified interests. The east never has been able to see west of the Alleghenies. California has a notion that the Panama canal was built so she can have "a greater volume of tourist business and in particular a better market for California products."

We in the west have to battle against both ends to obtain the equality to which we are entitled.

There seems to be some doubt whether or not Fall will be tried, Sinclair having been acquitted. Before this thing is ended Fall probably will be named winner of the Nobel peace prize or given a Distinguished Service Medal.

Dr. Harlow Shapley of Harvard has located the center of the universe, just about 300 quadrillion miles away from the earth. If that distance doesn't seem possible to you, look how far away the Sinclair jury got!

You never can tell about politics. Hoover may win out even though has been endorsed by Secretary Wilbur.

After those Bremen flyers get through with receptions in this country, they'll wish they had flown right back from Greenly Island.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

The Tynies watched the two draws bowl. Then Copy said, "Well, bless my soul. That's really very simple, and to show you I have pluck, just let me take a ball in hand. I'll throw it right from where I stand." So Copy was the first one of the bunch to try his luck.

He took the ball, and held it tight and hoped that he would throw it right. "Well, here it goes," he shouted. And the ball sailed out through space. It hit the bowling pins real square and most of them flew in the air. "That's not so bad," yelled Copy. And a smile spread on his face. Then Scooty rushed up to his side. "It's my turn now," he loudly cried. A dwarf set all the pins up straight and shouted, "Go ahead!" As Scooty threw the little ball, he cried, "Now watch me get them all." His aim was poor, however, and he missed them all instead.

"Ha, ha," laughed Copy. "Not so good. You didn't throw it as you should. I guess it's up to me to show you how to turn the trick. Just watch me now, and you will learn." He then stepped up and took his turn. A half a dozen pins fell, and he thought that pretty slick.

The bunch then heard smart Clowzy yell, "Well no one yet has hit them all. Step back and give me lots of room. I'll get the highest score. Course if I don't 'twill be a shame." Then Clowzy stood and took good aim. And as he threw the ball it made the dwarf and Tynies roar. He tried to throw the ball just so, but found he couldn't let it go. It hung on to his fingers and he sailed out through the air. The ball just pulled him of his feet and on the ground he took a seat. Although he wasn't hurt, it really gave him quite a scare.

(The Tynies meet the garden man in the next story.)

Dearest Mom: You'd fall in love with Pedro yourself if you met him. Perhaps I'll have him drive me out home this summer and give you a chance.

You can't imagine how wonderful he is, and I can't tell you even if I am raving over him. That's why I haven't told Alan about him—he just couldn't help being jealous of a man like Pedro. And I don't see why I should go through that when I'm not really serious. There's no harm in having a crush on Pedro. And there's nothing like being interested in someone to keep you alive.

I've eliminated Florence. I insisted upon having her go with me to Michelle's when I posed for the third picture in the dance series. She'd been a little piqued about his having asked me to do them instead of her but she made a real hit with him and I knew he'd get her out of it all right. I don't think I'll pose for any more if he can use Florence. It's too nice to be indoors.

Pedro has a car that makes mine look like a museum piece. I don't know how long he will be out of jail because of its speed. I haven't been out alone with him but Florence is going somewhere with Michelle this afternoon, so I may take a ride with Pedro.

His friend is coming in an airplane from a little trip and Pedro wants to meet him. I guess you wouldn't call it a joy ride if he asks me to go along, would you? He spoke about it yesterday when he called. He has the continental habit of paying afternoon calls.

Florence didn't know then that she'd have a date with Michelle today so we told him we'd go out to the flying field with him. I'm afraid

OGLE CO. LEADS IN NUMBER BEST PRODUCING COWS

Tops 32 Counties Enrolled in Club of Illinois U.

Urbana, Ill., Apr. 27.—(AP)—At the end of the first three months of their allotted year, 126 of the 564 cows nominated for membership in the Illinois 500 pound Butterfat Cow Club have hung up production records which practically insure their winning the coveted honor and gold medal. C. S. Rhode, dairy extension specialist of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, has announced. Thirty-two counties of the state are represented among the high producers.

Far out in front of the other contestants is a grade Holstein cow owned by C. J. Hitchings, Harvel, which has produced 267.2 pounds of butterfat during the first three months, or more than half of the amount required to enter the select membership. Another grade Holstein entry from the herd of Carl Armstrong, Sandwich, is second in the race with a record of 260.1 pounds of butterfat.

Winning a membership and the club gold medal requires a production of 500 pounds of butterfat within a year by each cow. The club objective is to find the state's high producing cows and at the same time, demonstrate that good breeding careful handling and proper feeding lead the way to economical milk and butterfat yields.

Twenty-nine cows owned by 21 different dairymen have finished the first three months with records of 200 pounds or more of butter fat, a mark which puts them well ahead, in the race for the club honors. Rock River Farms, Byron, own five of these cows; Bert Potter, Edelstein, four of them; and Gahlbeck and Lange, Woodstock, two of them. Eighteen other dairymen each have one cow past the 200-pound mark. They are: C. J. Hitchings, Harvel; Carl Armstrong, Sandwich; Maywood Farm, Hebron; J. K. Rathbun, Glen Ellyn; Lawrence Kauffman, Mount Carroll; Matt Homering, Orland; Randolph Thomas, Mount Morris; Fred Ollman, Itasca; Conrad Schaefer & Son, Normal; H. W. Crawford, Potomac; St. James Farm, Naperville; Strausland Farm, Elmhurst; W. H. Gardner, Solon Mills; W. W. Pfing, Matteson; Orrie Farm, Collinsville; Grimwood Brothers, Plano; S. G. Wilson, Butler, and Snow & Palmer, McLean.

Ogle county leads the 32 counties with seventeen high producers. Will is second with 13, and McHenry third with 10.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

AN APPEAL TO PARENTS AND TEACHERS

This is the season when flowers are beginning to appear on the lawns of Dixon homes. My own flower beds has twice been raided and all the blooms removed. I feel moved to appeal to parents and teachers to bring it to the attention of children that these flowers on other people's lawns are not theirs to pick. I know the temptation to take some to the teacher is usually the motive back of these raids. Won't the teachers of the city please impress the children with the fact that they do not care to receive stolen goods.

LOREE DISPOSES OF HOLDINGS IN EASTERN SYSTEM

Big Railroad Mergers are Coming as Result of Transaction

New York, April 27.—(AP)—Surrounding his holdings in the Wabash & Lehigh Valley Railroad, Leonard F. Loree has cleared the decks for a final agreement in an eastern railway consolidation involving 50,000 miles of track and property worth billions of dollars.

Loree yesterday relinquished his dream of a fifth trunk line between the east and west and sold his stock in the Wabash & Lehigh to the Pennsylvania Railroad for $63,000,000.

The deal was closed after weeks of bargaining. The amount of Loree's holdings was not disclosed.

The sale was for cash and free of all encumbrances. It leaves Loree a free hand in the disposition of the Delaware & Hudson, of which he is president, and which he may keep or throw into any merger he sees fit.

Kahn Intervened. Consummation of the deal followed closely upon the disclosure that Otto H. Kahn, banker, had intervened in a deadlock which threatened when Loree refused to give up his fifth trunk line scheme.

It is predicted that the Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, New York Central and Nickel Plate will now go ahead with plans to amalgamate the eastern carriers into four groups.

As a result of yesterday's transaction, the Delaware & Hudson nets a profit of between $23,000,000 and $30,000,000.

Loree still remains a factor to be reckoned with in the railroad world. The Interstate Commerce Commission is considering his plan for merging the Kansas City Southern, Missouri, Kansas & Texas and the Southwestern railroads. In some quarters there is a belief that Loree will be offered the presidency of one of one of the four greater systems.

PRESIDENTIAL PORTRAITS

The Story of Frank O. Lowden

EDITOR'S NOTE: This, the eighth in the series of Presidential Campaign Portraits written for The Telegraph and NEA Service by Robert Tally, is the last of three articles dealing with the career of ex-Governor Frank O. Lowden. Monday's article will discuss Senator William E. Borah of Idaho.

BY ROBERT TALLY
NEA Service Writer

Washington, April 28.—The eight years that have rolled by since 1920 have done more than merely add to the age of Frank O. Lowden.

They have changed him from a business man's candidate for the presidency to a farmer's candidate—at least, such is the changed color of his campaign.

Eight years ago Lowden was placed before the American public as the efficient business executive, the highly successful governor of Illinois, the man who would keep the wheels of industry turning and bring economy to the national government.

Today Lowden is being placed before the public as the champion of the distressed farmer, the leader of the agrarian revolt, the man whose election would mean the economic salvation of the horny-handed tiller of the soil.

Lowden is a farmer, and a successful one. His famous Sinsinipi farm on which he makes his home near Oregon, Ill., is a model of agricultural efficiency. In addition, he owns a big cotton plantation in Arkansas and has rather recently acquired a farm in Texas and another in the irrigation district of the west.

Naturally, any man of any means to the voters in the agricultural districts, and on them Lowden relies. The fact that he is a "kid glove farmer" doesn't detract from his financial success.

The Illinoisian is a strong advocate of co-operative marketing and of farm relief legislation which would tend to a more economical method of distributing the farmer's surplus crops. He is said to favor the McNary-Haugen bill with the equalization fee included, the latter on the ground that the machinery which it proposes to set up cannot successfully function without a method of apportioning the cost of marketing crops on a national scale.

"Laws," Lowden once said, "will help but they will not bring prosperity to the American farmer. It is clear that the great agricultural plant of our country has been running down at a dangerous pace. The farm population was reduced by almost a half million in 1925. This involves the very life of the nation. There is too much of a discrepancy between the prices the American farmer receives for the things he sells and the prices he has to pay for the things he buys.

"What the American farmer asks is the same right which other American industries now enjoy, through their superior organization. This is to name a price and acquire an organization that will enable him to sell at that price."

Unity of effort through co-operation and organization among farmers will be necessary to achieve this end, he says.

It is reported on apparently good authority that in the pre-Volstead days Lowden did not object to a glass of wine with his meals, but the same authority says he has not touched alcoholic stimulants for years. He did not support the 18th amendment, feeling that this was a question that the states should decide for themselves, but now that the prohibition law is on the federal statute books he feels that it is an obligation to see that it is enforced.

Lowden favors a protective tariff, though not at the expense of the farmer.

"The proper policy," he says in explaining this somewhat paradoxical stand, "is not to abuse industry by lowering the tariff, but to raise agriculture to the level of industry. That policy cannot be maintained without a protective tariff."

On the question of a third term for the presidency—which is of interest in view of the still-repeated rumors of an attempt to "draft" President Coolidge—Lowden has made his position clear by his actions, although he has kept silent in the present controversy.

When Lowden was a member of Congress he introduced a proposed constitutional amendment which would lengthen the presidential term from four to six years and limit a president to one term.

He has been quoted recently as saying he sees no reason to change his view of limitation, though he is not quite so sure now about lengthening the term to six years.

Lowden's long and close friendship with Vice President Dawes is said by politicians to be no small factor in his present campaign.

Dawes has resented all rumors that he is a candidate for the presidency, insisting that he is supporting Lowden. That is Dawes' emphatic answer to all who approach him publicly on the subject.

But in the undercurrent of political rumor, which ebbs and flows ceaselessly in Washington, there is a tale that these old friends have entered into a "partnership" campaign. In other words, Dawes will continue to support Lowden and then if it develops at the Kansas City convention that Lowden's nomination is impossible, Lowden will, in return, throw his support to Dawes.

How true these rumors are only time will tell.

MONDAY: Senator William E. Borah of Idaho.

At a Cost of Approximately $60,000.00

This plant will be in full operation by October First. All new equipment will be installed

The exterior of the plant is an investment in good appearance. The major part of the walls are of light tan color face brick, with warm red face brick and Bedford stone trim. The coping is also of Bedford stone harmonizing with the white bottle on roof as shown in illustration.

THE NEW STANDARD DAIRY OF DIXON, ILL.

There will also be a garage built at the rear end of the lot to house ten cars.

When entering the front door you will step into an attractive retail salesroom and office. The drivers room will be adjacent to the office.

The milk room will be beautiful with its shiny red tile floor and brown glazed brick side walls. The plant will be lighted with factory type windows and skylights, with ventilators in roof.

There will be an automatic bottle washer installed which conveys the washed bottles directly to the filler where milk is bottled and capped without human hands touching the bottle. Every machine in the plant which will number about 30 will be motor driven thus eliminating all unsightly line-shafts and pulleys and flapping of belts, giving you a clear view of the glazed and tiled room.

The boiler room will contain a 60 H. P. Boiler, 25-ton Ice Machine, an Artesian well and pump, a water softener and storage tank. This plant will be equivalent to handle approximately 10,000 quarts of milk per day, will also manufacture Butter, Butter-Milk, Chocolate Milk and Cottage Cheese.

This plant will be managed by Mr. Geo. Morey who has been connected with the dairy business for the past ten years and is well qualified to manage the plant.

Mr. Morey was born and raised in Dixon. Although he has been away from Dixon for some time he will be very glad to meet his old friends and acquaintances that he had when he left Dixon. He is also going to move his family to Dixon and will live on Third street. Mrs. Ludwig will have charge of the office and store where she will be able to take care of her many friends in a much better way than she has been able to do heretofore.

PENN. CARNIVAL UNCOVERED REAL OLYMPIC THREAT

Oklahoma Boy Finished Ahead in His First Steeple Chase

Associated Press Sports Editor. Philadelphia, April 28—(AP)—For the second time within a few days, athletic courage, ingenuity and perhaps fate have combined to produce an outstanding American Olympic prospect.

Barely a week ago it was Jole Ray, the old miler, suddenly blossoming forth at Boston as a marathon runner of the first class under difficulties and now picked by veteran coaches as a likely winner of the Olympic laurel wreath.

Today the sensation is blond and youthful Harold Keith, sturdy University of Oklahoma foot-racer, who ran the first steeple chase of his life on the opening day of the Pennsylvania relay carnival on a few minutes notice and won it—all because of a mistake.

Lawson Robertson, Olympic head track and field coach, immediately placed his stamp of approval on the Oklahoma man as an American candidate for 3000-meter steeple chase honors.

Keith and his team-mates came 1500 miles to take part in the distance medley relay. A mistake on the score-board misled them as to the time of their race. They came out to find to their dismay that the distance medley already had been underway five minutes.

They appealed to the meet officials, who sympathetically offered to let the Oklahoma men run an extra heat by themselves to get their performance on record. But this did not satisfy their competitive spirit. Keith and Heald, asked permission to enter this gruelling race and received it.

"I've never tried this before. What do you suggest?" Keith asked one of the referees.

"Stay up with the leaders; let some other fellow set the pace and then if you have enough stuff left beat them on the last lap," Keith was advised.

Keith followed instructions to the letter. He let Mel Dalton, Little Seton Hall star, stay out in front most of the route over slippery turf, then galloped out in front on the final lap to win by fifty yards. Carson finished fourth and Heald fifth.

Keith, in Lawson Robertson's opinion, is a real Olympic "find." He has a mile in 4:18 to his credit and has done five miles in around 24 minutes.

Watching the Big Scoreboard

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS) A combination of adverse weather and fortuitous hitting resulted in new leaders being at the top of both major leagues today.

The weather was adverse in so far as it concerned New York's Giants and Yankees both of whom were forced to remain idle yesterday and see themselves shunted into second place in their respective league standings.

The opportune hitting was done by Brooklyn and Cleveland and enabled the Robins to oust the Giants from the National League crest while the Indians were doing the same thing to Babe Ruth and Company in the American.

"Jumbo Jim" Elliott gave up only three hits in Brooklyn's 9 to 0 victory over the Boston Braves at the Hub. Hornsby and Burrus returned to the Braves' lineup after being out for a day with bad colds.

George Uhle registered his fourth straight win of the season as the Indians routed Detroit at Cleveland, 10 to 6. The Tigers hit Uhle hard in the first inning, scoring five runs, but the Indians came back with seven in the second and third.

At St. Louis, the Browns troiked over a 14-5 verdict over the Chicago White Sox.

The Chicago Cubs fell victim on their home lot to Jess Haines and the St. Louis Cardinals 4 to 2. Haines allowed nine hits but kept them scattered. Seven Cubs expired on strikes. Rain and cold weather caused postponement of the other games.

Western Coaches in Attitude of Defiance

Des Moines, Ia., April 28—(AP)—A resolution "repudiating the claims of the A. A. U. that its officers are the governing body of American track and field athletics" was adopted here last night at a meeting of the Western Track Coaches' Association.

The resolution asked that a delegate be appointed to the International Amateur Athletic Federation to urge that body withdraw its recognition of A. A. U. as supreme authority in American track matters. It was further resolved to invite other coaches in the United States to help formulate plans of withdrawal from the Union.

The action followed a speech by Major John L. Griffith, commissioner of the Western Conference, flaying the Union.

"The Union has a strangle hold on the Olympic situation, because the rule has been that no college athlete can compete in Europe without the consent of the A. A. U.," Griffith said. He recommended a "representative democratic Olympic association" as a substitute for the A. A. U. for

GRANTHAM TOPS NATIONAL WITH AVERAGE OF 474

Sheriff Blake, Cubs, Leads Pitchers: Other Figures

New York, April 28—(AP)—The season's second set of National League batting averages shows George Grantham of the Pirates leading the flock with a handsome mark of 474, although Pittsburgh as a club has been having trouble in adjusting its battle sights. The Corsairs were hitting the ball at a clip of only 284 against 305 for the leading Cardinals when the latest figures were compiled—including games of Wednesday.

Rube Bressler of Brooklyn was the nominal leader of the batters with an average of .500, but the Rube had been officially at bat only twelve times against thirty-eight for the Pittsburgh pitcher. Grantham had eighteen hits, led his league in doubles with five, and was tied for the lead in home runs with three. O'Doul of New York, Frisch of St. Louis and Webb and Hack Wilson of the Cubs each had an equal number of circuit blows.

Bell of Boston, Herman of Brooklyn, Kelly of Chicago, Douthett of St. Louis and southern, Friberg and Williams of Philadelphia were other individuals in the 400 class.

Frisch not only tied for home run honors, but also shared the lead in scoring runs and in driving them home. Frisch and dresen of Cincinnati had eleven runs each to their credit, while the Fordham Flash and Andy Cohen of the Giants divided with 12 each. Douthett of St. Louis had the greatest number of hits, twenty-two, and Bottomley the highest total of triples, three. Frisch and Tyson of Brooklyn stood equal in stolen bases with three each.

The St. Louis Cardinals led in fielding by compiling an average of .982 through their first eleven games, while Sheriff Blake of the Cubs mounted the top perch among the pitchers. Blake had won three games and had yet to be defeated.

The list of undefeated hurlers included also Jesse and Bush of Chicago, Benton of New York and Vance of Brooklyn with two victories each, and eleven pitchers each with one victory.

DRAKE RECORDS TUMBLE DURING FIRST CONTESTS

Expected to Bring New Figures

Des Moines, Ia., April 28—(AP)—More than 2600 athletes representing 244 universities, colleges and high schools from sixteen states today swept into the finals of the Drake Olympic team.

The records started falling yesterday when Morris and Simpson College and the Clarinda high school team, all of Iowa, lowered marks in the half mile and mile events for the Iowa Conference competition and in the 440 yard relay for prep schools.

Jack Elder, Notre Dame's sensational sprinter, served notice he intended to attack the 100 yard dash mark when he won his preliminary heat in 9.8 seconds without exerting himself.

Harold Trumble, University of Nebraska, may win the 120 yard hurdle event, judging from his fast performance to qualify yesterday. He skimmed the timbers in 14.9 seconds.

Eight pole vaulters survived their preliminary tests, clearing the bar at 12 feet six inches with indications that the Drake record of 13 feet would be endangered in the finals today. William Droege of North-western, who has cleared 13 feet 2 1/2 inches indoors, is favored to capture this event.

Weldon of Graceland, Ia., led the qualifiers in the javelin with a toss of 198 feet.

Particular interest is centered in University mile relay in which University of Iowa will attempt to avenge defeats it has suffered at the hands of Indiana, Northwestern and Texas Aggies this year.

University of Illinois, holder of the national college record in the four mile relay, will send a crack quartet of miler out to better their mark, if possible. The Illinois four is composed of Stine, McElwre, Novak and Abbott. Each is capable of doing the mile in 4 minutes 25 seconds or under. Abbott ran a mile in 4 minutes 24 seconds yesterday when Illinois won the distance medley race, establishing a record for the Drake carnival.

PITCHERS BEGIN TO SHOW CLASS IN JR. LEAGUE

Batting Averages on Decline in Second Week of Season

Chicago, April 28—(AP)—Pitchers performed nearer to mid-season form in the second week of the American League race, topping batting averages considerably, unofficial statistics for contests up to and including those of Wednesday disclose.

At the end of the first week of play, 31 hitters averaged 300 or more and 17 batted in the 400 class. At the end of two weeks campaigning, only 28 were at or above the 300 mark while but nine boasted a 400 average.

Ralph Kress, St. Louis, shortstop, dropped 19 points in his batting average but other leaders slumped more and he thereby jumped into the lead with an average of .481. Leo Durocher, the Yankees' recruit key-stone sacker, took average clip of .444. Paul Easterling, Detroit rookie, who led the heap last week, fell 219 percentage points to a .417 average. Ten other leaders are: Meusel, New York, .400; Miller, Philadelphia, .400; Gosselin, Washington, .380; Kamm, Chicago, .378; Bluege, Washington, .378; J. Sewell, Cleveland, .377; and Ty Cobb, Philadelphia, .371.

Herb Pennock of the Yankees and George Uhle of the Indians have the junior circuit pitching honors, each winning three games in as many attempts.

The Philadelphia Athletics gained 13 points in team batting during the week, but the rampant Yankees still clung to first place with a .318 average. The other teams' hitting averages: Philadelphia, .309; Cleveland, .275; Chicago, .274; Washington, .273; Boston, .267; Detroit, .253 and St. Louis, .229.

Philadelphia led in team fielding with an average of .979.

Kenneth Williams of the Red Sox has the most total bases, pounding out 17 hits for 29 bases. St. Louis led in double plays, turning in 13.

THREE BIG TEN GAMES
Chicago, April 28—(AP)—Three contests were on the Big Ten baseball program today but there was no chance to dethrone the leader, Michigan, as that team was idle.

Minnesota was at Illinois for its opening game of the season, Northwestern at Indiana and Wisconsin at Iowa.

Chicago lost its first game of the season yesterday when Purdue gave the Maroons a 7 to 6 defeat in 10 innings.

Michigan gave the east a sample of Big Ten baseball by defeating Syracuse University's team 4 to 1, at Ann Arbor.

BOWLING SCHEDULE
Games scheduled at the Pastime bowling alleys for next week are as follows:

May 1—Dixon K. C. vs. Amboy, Stirling vs. Dixon Fruit Co.
May 2—Chevrolet vs. Kline Auto Supply.
May 3—American Legion vs. Boynton-Richards.

If you wish to dispose of second-hand furniture or second-hand clothing, a 50c ad in the Dixon Telegraph will bring results. Try it.

COLLEGE AT MT. MORRIS SHORT: MAY CLOSE UP

Old Illinois Institution is Sadly in Need of Finances

Mt. Morris, Ill.—At the conclusion of the present year's school term Mt. Morris college will be closed for an indefinite period, this decision having been reached at a meeting of the board of trustees held this week.

Lack of financial backing is given as the reason for closing the institution. For the past few years the school has been running into debt. Not having a sufficient endowment to carry on its work, the place has been obliged to rely upon contributions from the church and friends of the school but these have not been enough to cover the cost of operating.

In the operation of the college from year to year deficits have occurred, due to the fact that contributions from the churches have steadily diminished. While the total of the deficits is not as yet alarming, and while the assets exceed the liabilities, it has for a considerable time been questionable in the minds of the trustees whether a policy which results in the accumulation of much greater indebtedness is justified.

In addition to this, is the fact that apparently there is no possibility of soon, if ever, raising the endowment needed to standardize and stabilize the institution. This conclusion is based on a very careful and thorough study of the situation, relative to the endowment made by the college authorities under the direction of President Peters. The Church of the Brethren constituency of Mount Morris College is comparatively very small and among them are practically no wealthy people. It has never been the thought of those managing the college that the major portion of a sufficient endowment could be secured elsewhere than in this church constituency.

Sandino's Rebels Hiding in Jungle
Managua, Nicaragua, April 27—(AP)—General Augustino Sandino, rebel leader, has disappeared into the jungle country of northern Nicaragua making threats to raid Puerto Cabezas (Bragman's Bluff) on the east coast.

Most of the 500 Americans at Puerto Cabezas regarded the rebel threat as a bluff. Presence of a large garrison of American Marines and an American gunboat there re-assured them.

With the disappearance of Sandino the fate of George B. Marshall of New York, who was seized by General Giron, a Sandino officer, became more of a mystery today. An undated note from Marshall said he was being accorded fair treatment.

Marine headquarters announced today that an air squadron flying over the Pis Pis region on Wednesday found no evidence of rebels in the district and it was believed practically certain that there were none there.

Feverish Movement of Troops in China
Shanghai, April 27—(AP)—Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, Northern Dictator, was rushing all available troops he could muster into Manchuria into Shantung to stem the advance of the Southerners toward the objective of their drive—Peking.

This feverish movement of troops and the Southerners, although they failed to capture Tsinan, were having considerable success in their drive. Supreme command of the Northern Army was given Sun Chuan-fang, Chung Tsung-Chang, military governor of Shantung, retiring to the rear.

Advices from both Tsinan and Tientsin said that the Northerners were still in control of the city. Three governments, the United States, Great Britain and Japan, have adopted precautions to protect their nationals.

For Special Session
Chicago, April 27—(AP)—Governor Small has indicated that campaign pledges made by him during his unsuccessful fight for renomination will be redeemed.

At a conference with Mayor Thompson yesterday, the Governor said he would call a special session of the state legislature early in May to consider traction bills for Chicago. He said he did not intend to sign any bills unless they carried a provision under which they could be submitted to the voters on referendum.

"During the last year, when traction legislation was pending, I announced publicly that I would never approve a bill pertaining to traction in Chicago unless it provided for a referendum whereby the people of Chicago would decide for themselves the kind of traction franchise and ordinances which they desire," said Governor Small.

PARACHUTE FAILED
Rome, April 27—(AP)—Lieut. General Alessandro Guidoni, former Italian air attaché at Washington, was killed today when a parachute with which he jumped from an airplane over the Monteclio flying field failed to open. Lieut. Pieri, who was piloting the plane, said the General possibly had made the jump too quickly. The ropes wound around his body and the parachute failed to spread. This was the first time in more than 2,000 launchings that this particular type of parachute failed to open.

The American continental divide is that part of the Rocky Mountain region which separates streams flowing toward opposite sides of the continent.

MADDEN STARTED AS WATERBOY IN BIG STONE QUARRY

A Poor Immigrant Boy, He Made Career of National Fame

Martin B. Madden was successful in two fields of effort which do not ordinarily overlap.

Just as in politics he rose from an obscure seat on Chicago's city council to a place of leadership in Congress, so in his earlier years he had climbed from a penniless English immigrant and waterboy in a stone quarry to head of a large and prosperous business establishment.

For him, both as business man and public servant, the magic words were effort and economy. Lessons that he learned in his earlier struggle for a living were applied religiously to public fiscal policies in the years he served as head of the House committee on appropriations, which originates all the appropriations for the United States government.

School of Experience
These lessons he began to learn in the school of personal experience at the age of ten, when he took a job as waterboy in a quarry at Lemont, Ill., six years after arrival in this country from England. Out of his nite he not only contributed to the support of the family, but saved enough to buy books and meet the other expenses of a night school. Studying in his spare time, he was able in addition to apply himself to his daytime work with an industry that won him promotion after promotion until in the course of the years he became the highest official of the stone company where he had made so humble a beginning.

His reputation for sterling honesty and business sagacity meantime had won the attention of political leaders of the old Fourth Ward of Chicago, and he was sent to the City Council as a Republican in 1889.

During a considerable portion of his service there he was chairman of the finance committee. The cry of "boodles" was common in those days of the city's remarkable expansion, but he came through unscathed.

Two months after he entered the council, Chicago entered upon a policy of annexing adjoining farm lands, in preparation for the day it was to take on the dignity of a metropolis. With the opening of new streets, ways and means to provide the needed revenue assumed first importance. He contributed notably to the solution of these problems. During his regime railroad grade crossings were abolished, the street railway systems reorganized, a lake front park system guaranteed, the World Fair held, the improvement of the Chicago River started, and "boodles" stamped out in the awarding of city contracts.

Three times he declined the nomination for mayor. Then in 1897 he retired from the council to become a candidate for United States Senator, but was defeated. He retained an active part in Republican politics, however, and in 1905 was elected to the House, to become quickly one of the great Republican triumvirate from Illinois, which included besides himself, Joseph G. Cannon and James R. Mann.

Lost Speakership
As chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, Mr. Madden came into particular prominence during the economy regime of President Coolidge. While it increased his influence as one of the leaders of the House, the championship eventually proved a boomerang, reacting through the loss of friendships to his downfall when seeking the Speakership. His candidacy in 1925 attracted a considerable following but he was defeated as Republican choice for Speaker by Nicholas Longworth of Ohio. No only did his integrity and business discretion require him to oppose pet appropriations sought by some of his Republican colleagues, but over-work and resulting illness caused him to become impatient and intolerant and drove from him the support of some who had been his friends.

Having no powers, as an orator, his political leadership was wielded largely on work in conference and committee, where he displayed keen business astuteness. He regarded the government as a corporation in which the citizens are stockholders, and applied to its management business methods.

For Gold Standard
Mr. Madden participated actively in a long succession of Republican National conventions. His friends claimed that the credit belonged to him for swinging the Illinois delegation to support of the gold standard plank in 1896, a material factor in the decision of the convention at a time when much of the west was clamoring for free silver.

Always a hard worker, he usually remained in Washington during recesses of Congress, preparing material for the framing of appropriation bills in advance of the assembling of the House. While so engaged in the summer of 1923 after a trip to Europe to study financial conditions to be used in connection with proposed tax reduction, he suffered a heart attack while enroute in an automobile to the Capitol. For days his life was in jeopardy, and it was predicted as convalescence set in that he would be an invalid. These gloomy forecasts proved unfounded, and he was quickly back in harness. His illness had, however, taken away in a degree that even, suave temperament which had for so long been one of his characteristics.

Impression of Mystery.
To most people with whom he came into contact, he created an impression of mystery. Never a reliable talker, he was a good listener, and seemed always to have something in reserve his field of information being surprisingly complete. An accident in a stone quarry caused the loss of a foot which was replaced artificially so that he was not required to use crutches and suffered little inconvenience in walking. His biography published in the Congressional Directory for years was notable for its brevity. It occupied but a line and a half, merely stating his name, his place of residence, and that he "was elected to the Fifty-ninth and each succeeding Congress."

He was born in Darlington, England, March 30, 1855, the son of John Madden, a farmer. When he was four years old his family emigrated to this country, landing at Boston, and going at once to Lemont, Ill., where they took up a farm. From the time he took his first job at the stone quarry, however, young Madden adopted that line of business as his own. He became president of the Western Stone Company and a bank director, president of the Quarry Owners Association of the United States, president of the Illinois Manufacturers Association and vice president of the Builders & Traders Exchange of Chicago. In 1878 he married Josephine Smart of Downers Grove, Ill.

The House Naval committee, of which McClintic is a member, requested the Departmental inquiry after it had decided not to go into the matter itself.

The National Council has denied it violated the franking privilege and has joined with McClintic in demanding an investigation.

The letter requesting the Postoffice to look into the charges was sent on behalf of the Naval committee by Representative Andrew, Republican, Massachusetts.

The name of Harold M. Weeks of Wellesley Hills, Mass., was signed to an affidavit, which was to the effect that he had received in an unstamped envelope, bearing McClintic's frank, a report opposing the new warship construction program favored by the Oklahoma member, which was frankable, and five other documents not accorded this mailing privilege.

These documents were outlined by Andrew as a letter on the stationery of the Libby organization appealing for $100,000 to further the national council's work, a subscription card, a return envelope, and two pamphlets, explaining the council's stand, and appealing for assistance in its campaign.

McClintic had informed the committee that he turned over 20,000 sealed and unaddressed envelopes to Libby containing only his naval program and the committee accepted this statement without question.

LAYTON 42 BEHIND
Chicago, April 28—(AP)—A hand-cap of 42 points confronted Johnny Layton of St. Louis, the National three cushion billiard champion as he entered the final two blocks of his 600 point three cushion exhibition with Willie Hoppe of New York today. With only 100 points to go Hoppe was leading 500 to 458, in 525 innings.

Chicago is "Broke"

Late Report Shows

Chicago, April 27—(AP)—The city of Chicago today had an unappropriated balance of only $13,500 in its corporate fund, the official report of City Comptroller Charles C. Fitzmorris showed.

Financial reports described the situation as the most acute since 1917, when it was necessary to vote bonds to sustain the corporate fund. The aldermen, apprised of the city's financial straits, voted to recall unexpended appropriations, to defer these pending and to direct department heads to use "coolidge" economy.

Blame for the shortage was reported to be what one of the aldermen called a "slip." He said the tax levy ordinance was not made large enough to take full advantage of the new tax rate of $1.12½ per $100.

An Investment for the Future —a Six of Long Life and Advanced Design

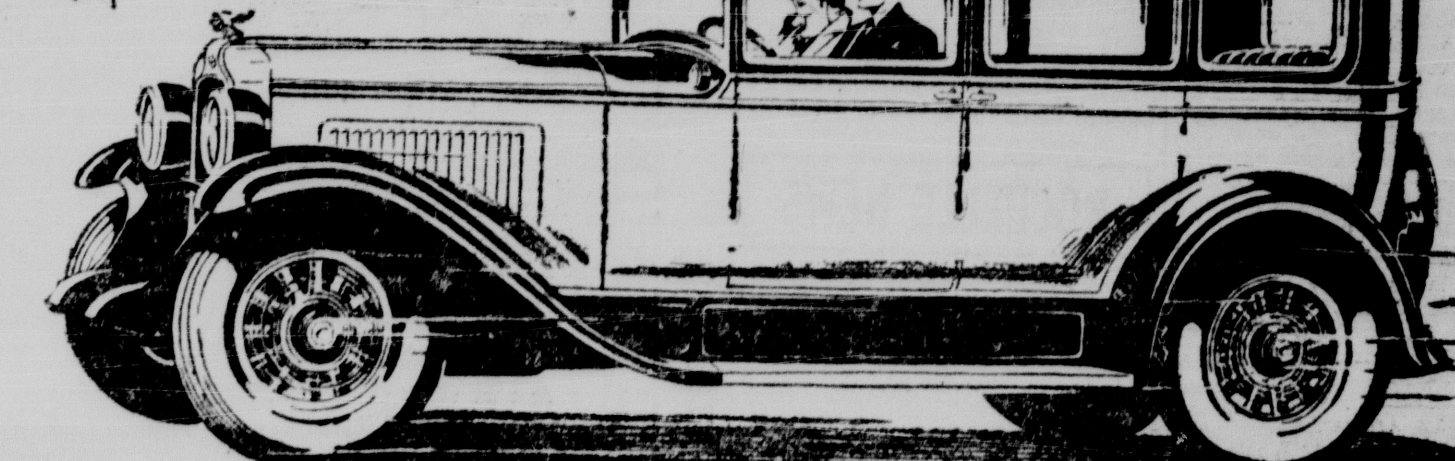

Judged by even the most critical standards, the New Series Pontiac Six is months—even years—ahead of its field. Its style is the height of fashion—achieved with low, graceful, modish lines—emphasized by magnificent new bodies by Fisher.

Its big, economical motor has the G-M-R cylinder head, for smoothness, power, snap and speed. It introduces the cross-flow radiator into the low-price field for elimination of engine cooling cares. It has every other really worthwhile feature that progressive engineering has devised! And in addition, it has that great fundamental which has been the basis of Pontiac's ever-growing success—the great fundamental of long life!

As a result the Pontiac Six will continue to assure owners a resale value which is the marvel of the industry. When you buy a Pontiac Six you know you are getting—not only a car that is new today—but a six so advanced in style and engineering, so famous for long life that its inherent value will always be consistently high!

As this salad is to form the protein part of the meal, one-quarter of a pound of cheese should be allowed for each person.

I receive hundreds of letters daily from readers asking me to give them the basic few rules of proper food combinations. I have therefore prepared a special brief article on this subject. You can obtain this by writing to me, care of this newspaper. Ask for my article called "Food Combinations".

"THAT TIRED FEELING"

It seems that everyone complains of being tired at the end of the day. This is in spite of the fact that men and women are doing less physical work year after year as they learn to make machines do the heavy work, and thus save muscular effort. It would indeed be difficult to find a day laborer who is really exhausted because of the work he has done during the day. The truth is that as our muscular work has become less pronounced.

I believe the principal cause of fatigue lies in the use of TOO MUCH FOOD OF ALL KINDS. The average person eats from two to three times as much as the body could possibly use, and when no muscular exercise is required in his work, and he does not take vigorous physical culture exercise, only a very small amount of food is needed to repair the cell structure of the body.

If two or three times as much food is used as the body can convert into tissue, the result will be a toxic state of the body, due to the digestion and assimilation of this food which cannot be used. The blood, filled with this excessive food material, becomes thickened and sluggish, and fatigue of brain and body is the result. If fatigue is thus induced, the only cure is to INCREASE YOUR EXERCISE and DECREASE YOUR FOOD!

Extreme toxic states of the body are also produced by wrong mental conditions.

Anxiety, fear, worry, depression, and thoughts of hatred, malice, and envy, will surely poison the body in a very definite way.

If your day has been a bad one mentally you can be sure that when night comes you will be overtaxed and toxic from the effects of such "mental" poisoning.

There are many nervous people who are in such condition that it does not seem they have strength with which to live through another day. If they were really as sick as they felt, they probably could not. This is proven when, in an emergency, we tap a hidden supply of energy of which we are ordinarily not aware.

In the first place, fatigue very seldom means a lack of strength, or real exhaustion. It is a rare thing for one to get so tired that he cannot run for the nearest exit when somebody shouts "FIRE!"

No matter what the real cause of your apparent exhaustion is, you will find that if you take up some vigorous physical culture exercise, and stop wasting mental energy, you will cure yourself of "that tired feeling."

If you wake up in the morning more tired than when you went to bed, resolve that day to cut down your food supply to one-third of what you have been using, and see to it that you banish from your mind all thoughts of worry, fear, anxiety, envy, jealousy, etc. You will be surprised and delighted to see how well you feel on the evening of the first day that you have been free from an excess of food and destructive thoughts.

If you will observe these rules, less sleep will be required than formerly, as sleep is needed most to allow the system to throw out the accumulated toxins of the day, and to adjust metabolism. If you require more than eight hours of sleep, you can be sure that you are dissipating your vital forces during the day, or have been careless in your eating.

When you learn to live so that six or eight hours of sleep will suffice to adjust metabolism, you will have shown that your daily habits of eating, exercising and thinking have improved.

QUESTIONS AN DANSWERS
QUESTION: Mrs. T. O. writes: "My left lower eyelid seems to wink when I look at anything about five or ten minutes. What is the cause, and the remedy?"

ANSWER: The trouble is caused by nervousness, and can be cured if you will regulate your diet, increase your exercise, and build up your general bodily strength.

QUESTION: Mrs. W. M. J. asks: "What would you suggest as refreshments for a social gathering? I am acquainted with your rules of diet, being a faithful reader of your articles, and since I am desirous of conforming to your rules on this occasion, I would greatly appreciate your advice."

ANSWER: One of the simplest refreshments is a good-size glass of plain orange-juice. Or, give your guests a liberal choice of all of the fruits in season. Grape-juice is also refreshing, and may be used if not too close to mealtime.

QUESTION: E. H. writes: "I have been troubled with constipation ever since I had an operation for the removal of ovarian cysts. Diets I take do not seem to do any good."

ANSWER: Your intestines are probably prolapsed and held down by adhesions. I would advise you to take treatments from an osteopath, chiropractor or other physician who understands how to give manipulative treatments to break these adhesions loose. Send for my special article on constipation, and also for the one on prolapsus of the abdominal organs, with adhesions.

QUESTION: Alling writes: "I am in poor health. I love fruits of all kinds but cannot eat them. I always have a headache from strawberries, rheumatism from oranges, bowel and stomach trouble, nervousness and headache from apples. Why is this?"

ANSWER: The cause of your trouble is hyperacidity of the stomach. If you will take a fruit fast for a few days you will get over all the symptoms which now trouble you. On this fast use only one fruit during any one day, and keep on with your fruit diet until you are feeling well, and have no unpleasant symptoms of any kind.

QUESTION: Mrs. O. J. writes: "Have been reading your article for a long time and have received much benefit, also have your book. Would like to ask if the sweetening of buttermilk kills certain germs which I am told are beneficial to one's system?"

ANSWER: The addition of sugar to buttermilk increases the growth of the lactic acid bacteria, and is often prescribed by physicians who recommend the Bulgarian milk diet. I suggest that you use figs or dates along with your buttermilk, and use this combination as a meal and not in addition to your regular food.

QUESTION: Mrs. B. K. asks: "Please tell me how high my blood pressure should be. I am forty-four years old, and it is now 185. Several weeks ago it was 225. What is the cause of it?"

ANSWER: High blood pressure is caused either by hardening of the arteries or from high tension caused by nervousness. Your blood pressure should be about 130, and you are always in danger if it is over 145.
